Votes to be counted

Mayor race may be settled Friday

The idea behind the change to the September primary passed by the Michigan State Legislature early this year was to shorten political campaigns.

But in Romulus the "campaign" has continued, and may only be settled Friday when members of the Wayne County Board of Canvassers wade through vote tallies to decide whether James C. Stewart's 14-vote victory over incumbent Terry L. Troutt will stand.

During the two weeks since the Nov. 4 general election, the holder of the mayor's office has changed twice, after Stewart assumed the office Nov. 12 and Troutt returned to it within 12 hours when a Wayne County Circuit Court judge ruled that he was the "incumbent" until the recount was finished.

Stewart was delayed from taking office for two days when a member of the city's Board of Canvassers refused to certify election results because of "mathematical errors."

But certification came Nov. 11 at midnight, and Stewart was given the oath of office minutes later.

The new mayor's first order once in office was to change the locks on doors leading to the mayor's office in City Hall. Following that order, supporters of Troutt gathered in front of the door, and the dispute had to be quelled by Deputy Insp. James Haile of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department Road Patrol who agreed to hold the keys to the new locks as a neutral party pending settlement of the dispute.

A Circuit Court judge settled the dispute temporarily when he banned both "mayors" from the offices until the outcome of the hearing before Judge Joseph A. Sullivan Nov. 13. Judge Sullivan ruled that Troutt was the "incumbent" until the outcome of the recount.

But during the 12 hours Stewart held the office, he began the cleansing of the City Hall he promised during his campaign, dismissing three workers in the Department of Public Works.

Troutt resumed the office Nov. 13, and reinstated the "fired" workers pending the outcome of the recount.

City Clerk Leonard Folmar said that Friday's scheduled recount will cost Troutt $5 for each of the 19 precincts re-examined by the County Board of Canvassers.

The taxpayers will pick up a $1,200 bill levied against it by the canvassers.

Folmar said the recount should take no more than one day, with two members of the canvassers — a caller and a recorder — re-examining the vote tallies under the watchful eyes of "challengers" from both of the mayors' teams.

Troutt said that he is counting on the county agents checking more than 30 absentee ballots the incumbent believes may have been "voided" by Folmar during counting election day for various discrepancies.

Folmar said that the ballots were voided for a number of reasons, including requests by some of those who voted applied for an absentee ballot that their ballots be removed so that they could vote on a machine in their precinct.

Other "voided" ballots contained signatures which did not match voter registration cards in Folmar's opinion and still others were marred in some way, dictating that they be removed from counting.

"In virtually every case where a ballot was voided, the voter was offered a new ballot," Folmar said. "Many refused them to vote at the polls instead."

Sheriffs seek teen

The Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol is searching for a 13-year-old Romulus girl who has been missing from her home since 4 p.m. Sunday.

Missing is Marcia Lynn Korte, 13, of 35820 Vinewood St.

The girl was reported missing by her parents after leaving home at 4 p.m. Sunday and staying away overnight.

According to a spokesman for the Sheriff's Department, the incident is being treated as a run-away, since the girl has threatened to run away from home in the past. However the girl's parents are fearful for their daughter because of the company she had been keeping.

The girl was last seen getting into a beige station wagon on Wayne Road south of Beverly Road in Romulus.

Police are checking a report that the car was seen outside a vacant home in the city on Monday.

The girl is a student at Romulus Junior High School.

Troutt carries absentee vote; Stewart outpolls in booths

If Terry L. Troutt is to win a recount of the results of the Nov. 4 general election, it appears as though the most likely place his "extra" votes will come from is among the more than 550 absentee ballots cast in the election.

Nearly 10 percent of all the votes cast in the election came by the route of absentee ballots, with Troutt carrying a good majority of them, 367 to Mayor-elect James C. Stewart's 196.

Troutt had finished 14 votes behind Stewart following the certified tallies with a total of 2,817 to Stewart's 2,831. The winning margin for Stewart appeared to come from the city's northern and western sections.

In the area north of Goddard Road and east of Wayne Road, Stewart outpolled Troutt 948-868 while carrying four of the six precincts involved.

Troutt won heavily in Precinct 15 bounded by Ecorse, the Venoy-extension, Van Born and Merriman roads with a 107-41 margin and edged the mayor-elect in Precinct 17, bounded by I-94, Chamberlain, Wick Road and the Venoy-extension where he polled 164 votes to Stewart's 153.

In the area west of Wayne Road, Detroit Metropolitan Airport and the C and O Railroad Tracks, including seven precincts, Stewart outpolled Troutt 1,263-786 while carrying all but one precinct.

Troutt carried Precinct 14 bounded by the Wick-extension where he polled 164 votes to Stewart's 153.

Only four precincts, in the southern and southeastern section of the city bounded roughly by Goddard Road, Vining Road, Northline Road, the C and O Railroad, Pennsylvania Road and Inkster Road could be called "Troutt territory" with the incumbent outpolling the mayor-elect 796-424, while carrying all four precincts.

It was in Precinct 12, roughly south of Eureka Road between Middlebelt and Wayne roads where the incumbent drew his heaviest support and ran up the greatest "plus" among the precincts by polling 299- of a possible 454 votes.

Ignoring the absentee ballot counting boards, the final tallies at the machines show that Stewart carried 10 of 17 precincts, including three by more than 100-vote margins.

Stewart's strongest precinct was Precinct 1, bounded roughly by Hannan, Chase, Shook and Wick roads where voters went 310-169 in favor of the challenger, giving him a 141 vote margin over Troutt.

Of the seven remaining precincts which went to Stewart, one gave him a 69-vote margin and four gave him better than 40-vote margins.

In Troutt's seven precincts, gave him better than 100 votes over Stewart, one had an 87-vote margin, one gave him a 77-vote margin and one gave him a 66-vote margin.

In the seven precincts where Troutt outpolled Stewart, he ran up a 1,211-747 margin.

In the 10 precincts where Stewart prevailed, the mayor-elect ran up a 1,888-1,239 margin over the incumbent.

In ballots cast election day at the polls, Stewart outpolled Troutt 2,635-2,450.

It's in the absentee ballots where Troutt closed the gap drastically to finish just 14 votes behind Stewart.

Council assumes its place

It was a little later than expected, but the "new" Romulus City Council was able to take its place as a legislative body.

New council members Gervazio (Jerry) Canejo, Robert Martin and Jimmie Raspberry were sworn into office Nov. 12 after a member of the city's Board of Canvassers finally agreed to certify tallies from the Nov. 4 general election.

Canejo, the new mayor-pro-tem; Martin, the council president pro tem; and Raspberry, a returnee to the council after a 2-year absence, were delayed in taking office after the certification ran past the Nov. 10 inauguration ceremonies scheduled at the Romulus City Hall. The tallies were certified at midnight Nov. 11 when the hold-out member of the board agreed to sign.

The three will join incumbents Fred Junior Block, Joan A. Lee, Beverly McAnally and William M. Oakley who won re-election in the Nov. 4 general election.

Honor singers

Four Romulus High School students have been chosen as "honors singers" as part of a statewide "Honors Choir" staged in Adrian Nov. 7-9. Students Gary Griffin (from left) Loretta Vickerman, Chryl Brown and Robert Lambert were chosen to sing in the choir along with more than 260 students from 65 schools from throughout the state. Lois Munkachy, choir director at the school, selected the four for the honor. — The Romulus Roman photo.

"I would say the Yellow Pages represents 50% of my income. When I started my transmission business, I advertised heavily in the Yellow Pages. A few years later I decided to try smaller ads. Result—my business took a decided drop. Then, three years ago my Yellow Pages rep suggested a larger program. Politics concern official

Moore planning meet on new court

An official involved in the search for a new 34th District Court building is concerned about Romulus politics.

George W. Moore, supervisor of Huron Township and one of the officials pushing for a new court building in the 34th District, is hoping to meet with newly-elected Mayor James C. Stewart and Mayor Pro Tem Jerry Canejo to bring both officials up to date on the court search by five communities in the 34th District.

"We're real close to solidifying the agreement on the construction of a new court," Moore said. "It would be a shame because of the changes in Romulus that we would have to start all over again."

The 34th District, which includes Romulus, Belleville, Sumpter Township and Van Buren Township in addition to Huron, has needed new facilities for many years, according to Moore. Work has been underway for the past five years in forming an agreement to construct the new building, but changes in Romulus administration and the flop of one private development plan has dragged the search on.

"We had plans from Romulus in 1973 for the construction of a court facility near Romulus' municipal building, but that was ended in 1973 when the administration changed hands," Moore said. "The city has spent up to $57,000 on architectural drawings and designs until the council decided the project was too expensive."

"Then when Mayor (Terry L.) Trout got into office, there was a plan to build a court building along with the shopping center proposal on Wayne Road near Wick Road, but that fell through."

"We're close again, with all the communities waiting for formal adoption of resolutions of intent, and the leadership in Romulus has changed."

Moore said the court search committee, consisting of representatives from each community involved in the court, has been stalled in its work for the past few weeks because of the political campaign.

"We had difficulty getting everyone together, because some of the leaders apparently didn't want to commit their communities to courses of action if they weren't in office," Moore said. "But I think we have a good agreement in the works and it would be a shame for it to be delayed once again."

Moore said he doesn't expect the new Romulus officials to be against the proposal, but said he wants to avoid any delays caused by a lack of information on the matter.

"I'm not prejudging their intentions on the court matter, but I want to be assured that they're fully aware of what has taken place until now to insure that when they're asked for a final decision on whether to enter the agreement, they can do it without too much delay," Moore said.

Plans are being made to have a meeting of the five communities top administrative officials to map final strategy on the plans.

"If we have favorable input from all the legislative bodies involved, then we can order plans on the building," Moore said. "Right now, Romulus' decision is the key."

The tentative plans call for a sharing of the cost of construction for the court — an estimated $600,000 — on the basis of each community's state equalized value.

Under the plan, Romulus share of the construction costs would be 45.166 percent. Belleville's share would be 3.225 percent, Huron's share 9.124 percent, Sumpter's share 7.501 percent, Van Buren's share 25.454 percent, and the Wayne County Road Commission's share would be 8.5 percent.

The road commission was asked to participate because it sends between 25,000 and 30,000 parking tickets through the court from Detroit Metropolitan Airport in Romulus.

Once the building is constructed, Moore said that the costs of operations would be split on the basis of how much use each community gets out of the court.

Under the "use" plan, Belleville would pay approximately 10 percent of the court costs, Huron would have a 10 percent share, Romulus would have a nearly 47 percent share of the costs, Sumpter would pay approximately 8 percent of the costs and Van Buren Township would have approximately 25 percent of the costs.

The costs would vary year to year based on the number of cases each community sends through the court under the plan. All communities involved in the plan would receive back all fines collected in them through the courts prior to paying the costs.

"It looks like a good plan, because the court always has been able to operate within the income from fines collected through the court," Moore said. "There never has been what would be called a deficit where the court has to be subsidized from outside revenue sources."

"And with the growth in the area, there is little likelihood that it every will happen."

Organization sets record straight

The Romulus Jaycees say they are taking a "bum rap" from a group opposing the passage of state legislation on children's rights.

Tom Von Glahn, president of the young men's organization, said that the Jaycees have not taken a stand on the bill proposed by State Rep. H. Lynn Jondahl (D-East Lansing) in the Michigan Legislature.

"Somewhere along the line someone got their signals crossed," Von Glahn said. "The Jaycees haven't taken any stands on the proposal, but have been criticized in front of some PTO groups for backing it."

"Although some members may individually be involved with the bill, the organization as a whole hasn't taken any stand on it."

Political reform: Law falls short

Writing good legislation on a complex subject is never an easy job.

That is why the legislative process is as complex as it is — to make sure ample opportunity is there to correct flaws and write the best possible laws.

But sometimes the legislative process goes awry and due process goes out the window. When that happens the result is usually not good. And that happened this year in the Michigan Legislature.

The lawmakers allowed themselves to be stampeded into writing an all-encompassing law to regulate political activities in Michigan under the guise of "political reform."

But what they did falls far short of being real reform. What they did is create a series of obstacles for the person who wants to enter the public arena and make the idea of public service very unattractive to many honest, capable people.

This stampede came as the result of threats by the self-styled citizens lobby, Common Cause, a group which says it is for open government but which refuses to disclose how many members it has or who they are. Common Cause said if the Legislature didn't come up with a law regulating political activity in the state, it would start a petition campaign to put its own on the November 1976 ballot.

Acting in the normal manner of politicians facing a real threat, the lawmakers fell over themselves to accommodate Common Cause.

In other times, under other circumstances, the very title of the act, which says it is designed "to regulate political activity," would raise well founded fears. The very foundation of the government put together 199 years ago was the idea that people have a right to pursue political goals without regulation or suppression.

What we have is a bill that gives public money to the major parties for gubernatorial campaigns while freezing out minor parties. It regulates how much you can give to a candidate for public office. It says if you give more than $50 you have to tell who you work for. It says if you want to run for any office you must tell where you work, what you own, what you owe, and then tell the same things about your wife and any children living with you.

Now, if this were the best of all possible worlds and reality was something you could learn out of a textbook, then maybe the Common Cause approach would work. Everything would be laid out all neat and clean.

But unfortunately the textbook approach doesn't always work in real life. The amateur often has no concept of life in the real world. And the truth is that Common Cause is made up mainly of amateurs, arm chair experts who have never had to get out in the real political world.

The truth is that their approach is unconstitutional in several areas and unrealistic in quite a few more. There are a lot of people who would make good school board members who don't feel it is anyone else's business who they owe money to or what they own. They figure there is enough of a hassle involved in being on such a body without baring their financial soul for the world, and their neighbors, to see.

And the new law is going to keep these people out of the political process. By imposing a penalty on people who want to serve, by telling them they are presumed guilty of conflict of interest and abusing the office before they ever take it, it results in their deciding to hell with it.

Fortunately, the final chapter on the story hasn't been written yet. A coalition of people disturbed by the new law has begun an effort to challenge it in the courts.

First, they are trying to get the Legislature to ask the Michigan Supreme Court to issue an advisory opinion on the bill in an attempt to clear up the legal questions at the start. A resolution to do this is being circulated in both houses, and thoughtful members will sign it.

Failing that, the long arduous process of challenging it through lawsuit, a process that will take years, will begin.

We hope lawmakers serving this area will have the good sense and courage to sign the resolution asking the Supreme Court to make a ruling. If the backers of the law really believe their protestations that it is constitutional, they have nothing to fear from such a move. Getting a quick answer from the Supreme Court to this highly controversial area seems only good sense.

And once that is over, we hope maybe the lawmakers and the Common Cause lobbyists who scared them into passing the law would remember this: The secret to good government is electing good people to office, not in erecting obstacles to scare them off.

As Panax sees it

UN's folly

Friends of Israel everywhere, Jews and Gentiles alike, feel a massive sense of outrage tinged with sadness now that the United Nations (UN) General Assembly has equated Zionism with racism.

Zionism, the philosophy on which Israel is based, combines political, spiritual and nationalistic elements but most decidedly is not racist.

To say otherwise is to give anti-semitism, by implication, a false coloration of legitimacy and to revive again the ghostly memories of the horrors Nazi Germany inflicted on the Jewish people.

Surely, all this was realized by the 72 Arab, Communist and Third World Nations who supported this wicked, wrong-headed resolution. But these countries could not resist the temptation to bully little Israel and pull Uncle Sam's beard at the same time.

By their rash action the same 72 have clouded the future of the United Nations, the great hope for world peace only three decades ago. For the United Nations will disappear, and deservedly so, unless ultimately some way is found to prevent the General Assembly from adopting such infamous resolutions.

Ambassador Daniel P. Moynihan, the permanent American representative to the UN, put his finger on the problem exactly when he declared:

"The General Assembly today grants symbolic amnesty — and more — to the murderers of the six million European Jews. Evil enough in itself, but more ominous by far is the realization that now presses upon us — the realization that if there were no General Assembly, this could never have happened."

It would be completely understandable if the United States reduced its financial contribution to the world body or pulled out of the United Nations entirely. Without our participation the UN quickly would go the way of the old League of Nations. The very threat of American withdrawal might be enough to shock the General Assembly into more responsible behavior.

In any event the U.S. Senate thinks so. It unanimously adopted a resolution "to reassess further participation" of the United States in the General Assembly. A somewhat watered down resolution subsequently won unanimous approval in the House.

It might be good for the United States to remove itself from General Assembly sessions and to stay on the sidelines until that body becomes a more congenial place for the free world's interests and values.

'A Plea'

By Marge Laverty

I am sitting here rocking in my rocking chair,
My hands are a trembling from work thru the years.
The silvery-gray is now all thru my hair,
And I sit here alone, just shedding a tear.

My family's all raised and they're married and gone,
The laughter and footsteps no longer around.
I just sit by the window and pray everyday,
That the children will come to see me and have something to say.

I get so lonesome just living alone,
But I don't want to go to an old lady's home.
I just want to spend time with each of my kids,
So please don't forget me while I still live.

I won't cause you trouble or get in your way,
Just fix me a corner and there I will stay.
I just need your help now that I am so old,
Don't turn your back and leave me in the cold.

I might be old and wither'd and gray,
But I am your mother don't turn me away.
Take care of me like I did of you,
And I will be happy and never be blue.

Come all you kids that read my poem,
Help Mom and Dad and do them no wrong.
Their days now are number'd they won't be here long,
Make them both happy and not living alone.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This poem, "A Plea" was written by Marge Laverty of Belleville. It is one of the first locally written poems received by The Enterprise-Roman after publication of this newspaper's new policy about the use of such creative work. The Enterprise-Roman is accepting locally written poetry for possible publication in your hometown weekly. Mail the poem with your name, address and phone number to 35540 Michigan Avenue, Wayne. Also include a brief description about when and why you wrote the poem.

Probably by now, most everyone has seen the movie "Jaws." And many localities, myself included, will curtail ocean swimming in the future while vacationing in a seaside town for fear of being eliminated by a shark.

But it's interesting to note that little flaws on land not the big jaws in the sea do many Americans in. I recently received a press release from the National Safety Council (NSC) which I found interesting and thought I'd pass it on to you.

Did you know that the average annual shark victim fatalities number 50 while the average annual deaths caused by accidents around the home are 25,000. More people are killed every day in home accidents—70—than in an entire year by sharks.

And the injury comparison is even more startling, according to the Safety Council.

Sharks injure another 50 people a year, while more than four million Americans are hurt in home accidents badly enough to curtail normal activities for at least one day every year. That's more than 11,000 a day.

"If you have that 'gnawing feeling' that perhaps your home isn't quite shipshape in the safety department," The Safety Council writes. "Try this little test prepared by the Home Department of NSC."

What type of accident causes the greatest number of home fatalities? (1) Fires (2) Poisonings (3) Falls (4) Firearms.

A. If you picked No. 1—the terrible fires or explosions we read about so often in the daily paper—you were wrong. The leading cause of death in the home is plain, ordinary falling down, No. 3. In 1974, nearly nine thousand persons died in home falls.

Most injuries from falls in the home occur (1) Off ladders (2) On level surfaces (3) Down a flight of stairs (4) From make-shift ladders, rickety chairs, boxes, etc.

A. No. 2. Most home fall mishaps happen at floor level. Slippery floors, loose scatter rugs, small objects like toys or pencils on the floor are the chief culprits in causing home falls.

If you fall you should: (1) Try to catch yourself by rigidly extending your arm. (2) Crumple like an empty sack and try to roll on the fleshy parts of your body. (3) Tense your muscles and try to "sit down."

A. No. 2. If you feel yourself falling, relax. Go limp and try to roll as you land. The roll will lessen the impact.

Someone in your family has suffered a minor burn. What is the quickest and safest way to relieve the pain? (1) Plunge the affected part in ice water. (2) Slap butter on the wound. (3) Sprinkle on monosodium glutamate.

A. The ancient treatment of submerging the wound in ice water is still the best. Keep the burned area in the water until the pain goes away. The butter-lard application method has fallen into disfavor. Monosodium glutamate is good for applying to bee stings. It helps reduce the swelling.

Your TV set flickers and the picture shrinks and dims frequently. What's probably wrong? (1) The set is plugged into the wrong outlet. (2) The set is giving its opinion of the current shows. (3) Your home electrical circuits are dangerously overloaded.

A. No. 3. That little black border at the top and bottom of your screen is telling you something. Wires, forced to supply too many appliances, can give only a small amount of electricity to each. Other tell-tale signs of overloading are: dim lights, slow-heating appliances, blown fuses. A serious household fire could result from overloaded circuits. Better call in an electrician to check out your wiring before tragedy occurs.

Ma Bell official blasts proposal

The vice-president of personnel for the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has come out in opposition to a State Senate bill which he feels "would do little more than provide wasteful jobs in which people would sit around all day and do nothing except collect their pay."

G. Robert Harrington attacked the proposal which would require that any underground repair or installation work by a public utility have someone stationed near the manhole on the surface.

According to Harrington, if the legislation is approved, the requirement would cost Michigan Bell some $3 million per year, which customers would have to make up in their rates. He called the proposal "featherbedding dressed up in so-called safety legislation."

"There are certain situations where it is necessary to assign more than one worker to a manhole job and in those instances we do," Harrington said. "But the labor union's efforts are aimed at legislation that would require an additional person above ground on every job assignment at a manhole cover, even though that is unnecessary in a vast majority of instances."

He added that the firm's concern for the safety of its employees is demonstrated "by the company's outstanding safety record which results from its own long-established and stringent safety procedure."

According to company statistics the employee "time lost" as a result of manhole injuries amounts to nine-tenths of a day for every 100 man years.

Among the company's safety procedures is a test for gas in manholes and ventilation when employees are working in them. Barricades also are used to avoid pedestrian injury and traffic markers are used to further protect workers.

"Senate Bill 128 is a costly, nonproductive piece of legislation which preempts occupational safety matters normally under the U.S. and Michigan Departments of Labor,"

Harrington said.

"Moreover, the additional cost — more than $3 million annually to Michigan Bell alone plus millions to other utilities — of stationing an extra person on the surface at manhole sites is an unnecessary burden which will have to be borne by customers or taxpayers."

Summer readers

Eight students gain accolade for reading

Eight students attending Van Buren's South Junior High School recently were honored for successful participation in the Belleville Public Library's Summer Reading Program.

The program, which was in its third year this past summer, is designed to encourage students to read and use the library during the summer months. Participating youngsters are required to read a minimum of 10 books in the program.

The students from South Junior High who were presented with certificates of achievement for the efforts were Gail Conley, Holly Fitch, Bonnie Schultz, Debbie Smendra, Karen Sparrow, Melinda Thacker, Kathie Tolliver and Debbie Woodruff.

Under the program, students are required to read at their own level, never below it. Occasional oral reports also are given.

Also happening at South recently was the election of officers for the Student Council.

Heading up the new leadership slate is Sam Cornett, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Cornett, as president, with Blair Temple, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Temple, as vice-president.

Cathy Cilia, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cilia Jr., is secretary, while Kim Buchanan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Buchanan will serve as treasurer; Beth Brinkerhoff, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Brinkerhoff, as public relations; Debi Cammet, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cammet, as the ninth grade representative; Sandi Sienko, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sienko, as eighth grade representative and Mark Schofield as the seventh grade representative.

Students, staff star in show

Students and teachers from two classes at Edgemont and Sumpter Elementary schools and parts of three others from Edgemont have appeared in an educational film, produced and directed by WWJ Radio personality Shelby Newhouse.

The educational film, which was produced for the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village, will be seen by schools throughout the country.

The students and teachers are David Larabell and his class from Sumpter; Mona Salisbury and her class from Edgemont; and Jerold Cook and 18 students from the three sixth grade classes at Edgemont.

The film, written by Newhouse, shows classes preparing to visit a museum by studying specific areas.

The Van Buren public schools were selected to appear in the movie because of the excellence of the district's educational programs and the fact that it is neither urban or suburban.

Newhouse said: "We've found that the people in Van Buren are good educators, and on top of things. They don't generate some of the problems other districts might."

The film will be made available to the district sometime in January.

KENNYRAE

He tries for part on show

A Romulus man will be auditioning for a guest spot on a Canadian country and western show.

Kenny Rae, 29, of Romulus, has been invited to audition for the Tommy Hunter Show on Canadian television next week.

The 10-year veteran of country and western singing is performing at the Rustic Manor in Taylor.

He has sung with Sonny James, at the Possum Holler in Nashville and in the Porter Wagner show.

He gains UM post

New Boston resident Donald J. Tippmann has been employed by the University of Michigan-Dearborn to serve as an adjunct lecturer in sociology.

The appointment was approved by the university's Board of Regents at a meeting last month.

3-day conference set for Wesleyan Church

The Romulus Wesleyan Church will hold a 3-day Missionary Conference at the church, located at 37300 Goddard, Friday through Sunday.

Missionaries from India, the Philippines and Wesleyan Indian Missions will speak at the conference.

The meeting will begin at 5:30 p.m. Friday and will feature foods prepared from recipes of other countries. A men's breakfast, a ladies' tea, children's meeting and slides showing Wesleyan Indian Missions are part of the conference plans.

Sunday The Rev. Wayne Wright from Wesleyan headquarters, will speak, followed by the making of faith promises for promoting missions of the church. The public is invited to all the services.

'The Sounds of Love'

Church hosts documentary

"The Sounds of Love," a religious documentary, will be shown at Faith United Methodist Church, located at the corner of Michigan Avenue and Denton Road, at 7 p.m. tomorrow.

The documentary features Maria von Trapp, the real Maria of the "Sound of Music" fame, movie actress Dale Evans, and Corrie ten Boom who during World War II was condemned to death by the Nazis for aiding Jews of Holland to escape capture and death.

"The Sounds of Love" is a film about women, but it is not a woman's film. It is a documentary that probes into the lives of these three ladies.

Miss Ten Boom suffered at the hands of the Nazis and war-time deaths claimed the lives of four of her loved ones. Betrayed by her countrymen for aiding Jews, she, too, was scheduled for execution.

Miss Evans' marriage to cowboy actor Roy Rogers illustrates that true love is possible in Hollywood's word of make believe.

Mrs. Von Trapp speaks of her overflowing life as told in the film "The Sound of Music." In "The Sounds of Love" she reveals an interesting combination of the bitter and the sweet as she tells of those days in the Austrian Alps just before the invasion of Hitler's armies.

Romulus gets federal funds

Romulus will receive almost $300,000 in federal funds under a recently passed economic development act.

The city has received the funds for four sewer extension projects in industrial land areas under the Environmental Protection Agency Public Works and Economic Development Act.

The largest share of the allotment will go into a pump and lift station and a 1½-mile sewer line construction project along Beverly Road between Wayne and Merriman roads.

The city received $126,700 under the grant. A $70,000 project grant was given for a sewer extension along Ecorse Road between Cogswell Road to the C and O Railroad track to serve the General Motors Detroit Diesel complex.

Some $65,000 will be given to the city for an extension to a sewer line along Huron River Drive to Wabash Street to serve the Huron River Industrial Park in the southwestern section of the city.

The final payment, $31,500, will go into a sewer extension along Middlebelt Road to Eureka Road to serve a commercial area.

Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) announced the award to the city.

"I'm pleased one of our local areas can receive some of this money which the Democrats in the House worked so hard to get approved," Ford said. "Not only will this give Romulus an opportunity to improve its economic development capacity, but it also will furnish at least 30 new jobs in the 15th District."

Scout den tours Ypsilanti airport

Den 6 of the Elwell Elementary School's Cub Scout Pack 924 recently toured Willow Run Airport, coming away with a new idea of what the world of aviation is all about.

Kertesz: Member of play

A Romulus resident will be taking part in the production of the first reader's theatre presentation "The Human Comedy" this weekend at Western Michigan University (WMU) in Kalamazoo.

Stephen Kertesz, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Kertesz of 15685 Vining Road, Romulus, will be involved in the production, the first by the University Theater in six years.

The play will be presented at 8 p.m. tomorrow through Saturday at the Shaw Theater on the WMU campus.

The play deals with a young boy's encounter with the circumstances of war and the cold reality of death.

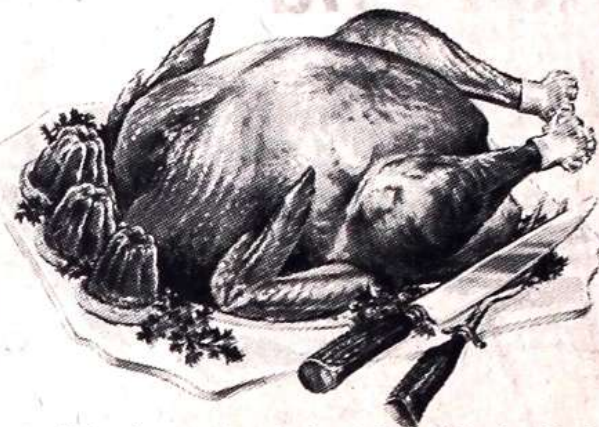

The youngsters spent an afternoon at the aviation center, visiting the control tower, where the various pieces of flight equipment were explained, and inspecting a large passenger plane and its cockpit.

The boys also toured the airport by van, seeing a variety of aircraft on the ground, as well as visiting the old Marine Air Base, used during World War II.

The outing arranged by Mrs. Evelyn Williams, the grandmother of Cub Scout Richard Moon, ended up at the airport fire station where the youngsters were lifted into the cab of one of the fire trucks to "get a feel of the wheel" and see all of the equipment.

Final stop at the airport was the lounge where a treat, prepared by Mrs. Williams was waiting.

And general manager

Hedley to head Macomb Daily as publisher

The former publisher and general manager of the Delaware County Times of Chester, Pa., Ronald A. Hedley, will become publisher and general manager of The Macomb Daily Community News Dec. 1.

Hedley's appointment was announced by Martin Heim, group vice-president of Panax Newspapers' southeastern Michigan region of which The Macomb Daily is a part.

Based in Mt. Clemens, The Macomb Daily serves all of Macomb County.

Heim said the appointment would consolidate two management positions at the paper-publisher and general manager. Hedley, 58, succeeds Mark McKee, Jr., as publisher and Gary Blower as general manager.

McKee is retiring, and Blower, general manager since Aug. 1, 1974, will re-assume fulltime responsibilities as production superintendent, Heim said. He also will undertake a long range planning program aimed at expanding The Macomb Daily's computer operations and setting up an integrated data processing system covering Panax' five newspaper operations in southeastern Michigan. In addition to The Macomb Daily-Community News there is Mellus Newspapers (downriver Detroit area), News-Herald Newspapers (Wyandotte), Associated Newspapers (Western Wayne County), and the Dearborn Press (Dearborn).

"We feel most fortunate to welcome a man with Ron Hedley's abilities and background to Panax Newspapers," Heim said. "His experience has been primarily with newspapers in suburban sections of a metropolitan area. He has been extremely successful in producing excellent newspapers based on complete community involvement—both personal and by his organization."

Like The Macomb Daily, Hedley's former paper has a circulation of approximately 50,000. And like the Daily it is located on the outskirts of a major city—between Philadelphia and Wilmington, Delaware.

"We are excited about Ron Hedley's joining us as publisher and general manager of The Macomb Daily," said Frank Shepherd, executive vice-president of Panax. "He is a top professional in our industry and we feel that his maturity and dedication will add tremendously to the success of the newspaper."

Hedley, a native of Brantford, Ont. has 37 years experience in the circulation, advertising, and general management areas of newspaper publishing. He became a U.S. citizen in 1957 while serving as advertising director at Chester.

Prior to joining the Delaware County Times that same year, Hedley had served on the London, Ont. Free Press; the Chatham, Ont. Daily News; and several Thomson Group papers in Canada, including the Vancouver Herald.

Among the many honors he has been afforded was being named in five of the past seven years as publishing the best medium-size daily in Pennsylvania. The Pennsylvania Newspapers Publishers' Association presented him its Keystone Press Award each time.

In addition Hedley has been a member and officer of United Way, Rotary, YMCA, Delaware County Chamber of Commerce, and in 1974 was named Chester Businessmen's Association Man of the Year.

Panax is the parent corporation of Associated Newspapers which publishes The Daily Eagle and its affiliated newspapers—The Canton Eagle, The Belleville Enterprise and The Romulus Roman.

RONALD A. HEDLEY

McKee ends Daily career

The publisher of The Macomb Daily, Mark McKee Jr., has announced his retirement, effective Dec. 1, ending an 11-year career in that position and more than 50 years of his family's association with the management of the newspaper.

McKee, who followed his uncle, the late Paul McKee, into the publisher's office on the latter's death in 1964, said his decision had been made "with great regret."

"I've seen Macomb County explode from a population of 100,000 to our nearly 700,000 today and The Macomb Daily expand from a small town daily plus two weeklies to the paper it is today," the greying 54-year-old newspaperman said.

"But the growing demands of outside interests coupled with the fact the future management of the paper is in what I believe to be excellent hands made my decision to request early retirement inevitable," he added.

McKee's move evoked surprised reaction from officials of Panax Newspapers which purchased the Macomb Daily from the McKee family in 1971.

"McKee's retirement ends an era covering more than a half century in which a member of the McKee family actively has been identified with newspapering in Macomb County," said Panax President John P. McGoff. "For them, as for Macomb County, it has been an illustrious era—one which I regret seeing close," he added. "All of us recognize Mark's unwavering devotion to his profession and the many, many contributions he has made to the community. However, it is just those accomplishments that certainly entitle him now to relief from everyday responsibilities. He has done a great job and we will miss him."

McKee's father, Mark McKee, Sr. brought the newspaper into the family with the purchase of the Mt. Clemens Monitor Leader more than 50 years ago.

McKee Sr. is a member of the Panax Board of Directors.

Martin Heim, former Macomb Daily general manager and now Panax group vice-president for southeastern Michigan, said he learned of McKee's retirement "with great regret, but also great satisfaction over his accomplishments as publisher."

"It is gratifying that Mark will continue on as a consultant," Heim added. "I am confident his energy and enthusiasm will benefit the Daily in many ways for many years."

"Mark leaves behind a set of standards that we who remain not only find challenging but a tribute to a friend who is leaving us."

McKee joined the Monitor Leader in 1946 as telegraph news editor, after service as a captain in the Army Chemical Corps at Edgewood Arsenal near Baltimore.

Young runners pace All-Area squad

Churchill, Cherry Hill dominate selections

By TOM MOORADIAN
Eagle Sports Editor

Why would a high school athlete want to run 3-miles?

Ask 10 young men who were selected for the 1975 Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers' All-Area team and you'll get 10 different answers.

"I think it's the challenge," said Todd Wint, 17-year-old Livonia Churchill senior, one of two holdovers from last year's squad. "You have a feeling of personal satisfaction when you're able to complete the course and maybe win and help your team win."

Wint is a member of Churchill's Western Six Conference championship team. He helped Coach Dave Westover's Chargers capture an unprecedented sixth straight league title, a share of the Western Wayne Invitational, place first in the regional and second in the state.

"Todd is a tremendous young man," Westover said. "He is a premier runner who will be a top notch college performer."

Also named to this year's squad are Churchill's Vic Wietecha and Keith Stoddard along with Cherry Hill's Bill Johnson, Dale Brown, Scott Smith and Westland John Glenn's Ted Unold. Wayne Memorial's Kevin Miller the star-studded lineup.

Wint, 6-1 and a 160-pounds, also won the individual conference title with a 15:30.2 effort. He was the top performer at the Westland John Glenn regional (15:49) and placed fifth (15:23) in the state.

Named to the Schoolcraft as well as Wayne Invitational All-Invitational teams, Wint finished the dual meet phase of the season with a perfect 7-0 record.

Wietecha is one of four juniors selected for this year's team, the youngest in its 10-year history. He surprised the Wayne Invitational field by finishing first and was runnerup to Wint in the league run. Vic also ran fifth and 11th in regional and state competition, respectively.

"We're really happy to have him back next year," Westover commented. "We're losing three runners off of this year's team and Vic will help form the nucleus of next year's squad."

Stoddard is a 2-year all-league performer who finished eighth at the Wayne Invitational and 22 in the regional.

"Keith is a reliable runner and his consistency gave us key yardage for a successful season," the Charger coach noted.

Unold, injured early in the campaign with a stress fracture in his leg, has the potential to become a state champ, according to Glenn Coach Jerry Szukaitis.

A 5-8, 125 pound junior, Ted was the best sophomore cross country runner and miler in the school's history. He won the league title in the mile (4:26) as a sophomore and finished seventh in the state after winding up second to Churchill's Wint in the regional.

Despite injury, Unold didn't ease up during his comeback, though he suffered a setback of sorts during the Northwest Suburban run when, after finishing first, he was disqualified. Three others joined Ted in making a wrong turn.

"I feel Ted will be among the best in the state next fall," Szukaitis said. "He could be a state champ." (Continued on Page A-12)

Churchill coach is tops

Westover builds winning tradition

Dave Westover has built a winning tradition in cross country at Livonia Churchill High School.

As a first year coach back in 1969, Westover fielded a team that won the then Western "Five" Conference championship. Some argued that it was "luck" but six years later, Westover has continued to dominate now what is the Western Six, stringing together an unprecedented six consecutive championships.

The 32-year-old math teacher hasn't stopped winning. His success this season includes a 6-1 won-lost dual meet record, a Western Wayne Invitational championship, the regional title and, in his first appearances in state competition, Westover and the Chargers placed second at the Class A state championship.

For his contribution to the sport, his outstanding work with his young athletes and an enviable record, The Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers are proud to select Westover as the Cross Country Coach of the Year.

"Cross country is one sport where the athlete gets little of the recognition afforded other preps," Westover said. "Open up any daily or weekly newspaper and little if any recognition is given to that sport.

"And that's a shame because these kids deserve as much, if not more, than the others," Westover added. "If an athlete can run 3-miles, surely a couple of paragraphs about his feat isn't going to hurt any newspaper."

Westover noted that the image of cross country being a "ghost sport" — few fans attending the competition — is changing. "We're drawing a larger share of the fans now," he said, "and it's because people are beginning to recognize cross country for what it is — a gruelling sport which pits an athlete against other athletes, nature and time."

"There are all the elements of suspense in a cross country meet and people are beginning to see this," Westover noted.

A University of Michigan graduate, Dave earned his B.A. in mathematics, then went on to take his masters from Wayne State University.

A former track coach at Bryant Junior High in Livonia, Westover moved to Churchill when the building was completed seven years ago.

Dave and his wife, Glenda, have a son, Scott, and make their home in Plymouth.

If your car has a manual transmission, make sure that you effectively lock the transmission by shifting into first gear. This helps brake the rear wheels. VIKING STRONGHOLD — Belleville North can boast a perfect 6-0 record this season thanks to a formidable defense and a potent offense. Here, good, solid tackling displayed by North's (dark jersey) Jeff Horton, John Delaney, Gary Udovich, Jim Mercurio, Joe Sweeney, Steve Gray and Kevin Guenther floors a Best runner. North won this one 36-0.

Four picked all-conference

There were little if any surprises at the fourth annual Suburban 8 Conference football coaches meeting.

Trenton, undefeated and considered one of the finest teams in the state, placed eight of its players on the first string, including senior quarterback Greg Castigola.

Belleville, though shutout from the first team, is represented by three players on the second. The trio includes Tom Bauer, Roy Rutherford and Dan Theodore.

Bauer, a 5-11, 165 pound senior, was named as the second string center while Rutherford, a junior, was picked as a defensive end. Theodore nailed down one of the defensive halfback slots.

Trenton won the conference championship with a perfect 7-0 record while Edsel Ford and Dearborn finished in second with 5-2 records.

Belleville wound up the league campaign in fifth (3-4) and posted a 4-5 over-all record on the season.

North gridders perfect

Belleville North Junior High can boast not one, but two undefeated football teams this season.

The Vikings' 8th grade gridders finished the 1975 campaign with a perfect 6-0 season and coaches Dave Smith and Bob Murray's team won four of their six games on shutouts.

The Vikings blanked O.W. Best 36-0 in the opener, then eked out a 8-6 victory over Inkster John Hill and came up on top of a 16-8 score with Romulus.

Arch-rival South fell to North 22-0 while Dearborn Heights Annapolis bowed 68-0 and Willow Run succumbed 40-0.

Others who showed a lot of desire and could help the football program are: Greg Cooper, Jeff Vullock, Tim Manning, Brett Curtis, Richard Spaulding, Garth Hammer, Mark Thompson, Chuck Goebel, Jim Kause, Mark Alspaugh, Bob Upton, and Richard Edson.

The Viking freshmen, 7-0 on the season, posted a 42-0 drubbing of Garden City's Radcliff Junior High.

Coaches Paul Druker and Ken Palmer point to their potent offense as one of the mainstays of the team's success.

Offensively the team was led by Ken Barrett, Herb Burrus, Tim Ellsworth, Steve Gray, Clarence Massey, Tom Montgomery, and Kevin Patterson.

Offense is generated with fine offensive line play as provided by Bob Crook, Joe Kennedy, Bob Newman, Bob Sayre, and Tim Woody.

Tenacious defense was provided by Tony Allison,

Jay Caldwell, John Delaney, Kevin Guenther, Bill Hedge, Jeff Horton, Jim Mercurio, Keith Meyers, Brian Parks, Dward Ridley, Joe Sweeney, Gary Udovich, Joe Wells.

The life blood of this squad can be found in this years specialty teams headed by Ed Daunt, Geof Foster, Mike Herndon, Bob Hollenbeck, Ed Janos, Ed Lovely, Wayne Morris, Tony Mott, John Quener, Paul Ryznar, Mark Schimmel, Daryl Scheffeld, Bill Whitmer, Carl Winekoff, and Willie Wood.

Young runners pace All-Area selections

Miller has been running cross country since the eighth grade at Franklin Junior High. A 6-2, 140-pound-junior at Wayne, he finished seventh in the league and 14th in the regional.

Kevin was sidelined early in the season after he was spiked at the Schoolcraft Invitational. That caused him to lose two weeks.

Kevin should be instrumental in Wayne's bid to snatch the title back from Fordson. The tractors hijacked it from the Zebras for the first time since the two entered the Great Lakes 8 three years ago. Hudock was named the Most Valuable runner on Franklin's team this season after being named to the All-City (Livonia) and Wayne Invitational teams.

The 5-7, 130-pound junior also placed ninth at the regional enabling him to compete in the state finals. "This is George's first year as a varsity runner," Coach Bob Holmes said. "And he's proven that he has the ability to compete with the best of them."

Cherry Hill's three top men — Johnson, Brown and Smith (not necessarily in that order) — were the key to the Spartans second undefeated dual meet season and a 19-dual meet winning streak.

Brown, a 5-9, 135-pound senior, also earned his All-Area stripe a year ago. He is a second year cross country man who co-captained the Spartans to a league and second place finish at the regional.

Dale tied with Johnson for individual honors in the league meet after finishing sixth in the regional. He's also an all-league and All-Invitational downriver performer.

Johnson is a "total athlete" who makes winning look easy. But, behind a slim 120-pound, 5-7 senior frame, Bill works hard in every aspect of making himself a champ. "He possesses all the attributes of winning — desire, ability and equally important good attitude," said Grasley.

Johnson completed his fourth year on the Spartan varsity squad by setting the varsity and course records. He was named to a string of "All" teams, including All-Tri-River, Schoolcraft Invitational, Downriver Invitational, Wayne Invitational and Wayne County Invitational. Bill was the individual second heat winner at the WW Meet and finished third in the regional.

A co-captain, Johnson also is a member of the National Honor Society and President of the Student Council.

Smith capped his second year with all-league honors. A four-year letter winner in the sport, Scott placed seventh in the regional and also belongs to the National Honor Society.

Kleam is a "super sophomore" who, in finishing 15th in the state, didn't find another soph ahead of him.

"I feel that Kleam has outstanding talent and a great future ahead of him," said Steve Ray, Plymouth Salem coach. "He made the all-league team (Suburban 8) and finished fourth in the regional held at John Glenn."

The soft-spoken Kleam is 15-years-old, the youngest member on this year's All-Area roster. He's also 6-2 and 145 and if all goes well could be a future state champ before he ends his prep career.

RIGHT UP THE MIDDLE — Finding a hole big enough for the proverbial tank to get through against South is Belleville North's Rick Winekoff (33) who scores one of the touchdowns in a 22-0 victory. North had two teams that finished the 1975 campaign with perfect records. The 8th graders accomplished the feat as well as the freshmen.

Mister X unmasked

Who is Mister X?

That was one question many football fans and members of the Panel of Experts asked during the recently-concluded high school football campaign.

And now that the season is over, the mask can be lifted from the mysterious panelist's face. Our mystery man was none other than Don Domke, athletic director at Westland John Glenn.

Domke, who obviously refused to select against his team was rewarded by getting eight of nine right because of his loyalty to the Rockets. He also finished runnerup in the final ratings having correctly selected 68 of 88 games.

The top predictor was Bob Prokop, of The Daily Eagle Advertising Department.

A former Detroit Catholic Central star, Prokop managed to come up with 72 correct games while missing only 16. And that's a superb ratio.

Andy Hodge, a newcomer to these parts, finished third (61-21), while sports editor Tom Mooradian wound up with a 64-24 score.

Trailing in fifth was Bert Osterberg who had the distinction of not one but two perfect weeks, a rare feat. However, a poor start left Osterberg with a 63-25 over-all record.

Jim Carravallah, our man in Belleville, predicted 61 out of 80 correctly while Sue MacDonald, the lone woman on the Panel, finished in a tie with Henry Cantin. Both had 58-30 records.

In the cellar and with the "I Tried" award was Greg Morrison who compiled a 50-38 record.

5-year-old bowler mows 'em down

He stands 42 inches tall. And, last fall, 5-year-old Jonathon Ball entered kindergarten at Harrison Elementary School in Romulus.

But, unlike most of his peers, Jonathon already has made the pages of various sports sections across the state. For a good reason: Jonathon has shown he can bowl.

The only son of Mr. and Mrs. Dickie Ball of Romulus, the young bowler carded a 135 game at Trentwood Lanes in Romulus.

"He has never scored under 94," says Mrs. Ball, Jonathon's mother. "You wouldn't believe how he performs with a bowling ball."

The ball almost is as big as the young bowler. But, that doesn't scare Jonathon who flexes his muscles to show how strong he is."

Jonathon bowled his first game in August when his older sister invited him to tag along to the bowling lanes. His sister urged him to "try" to bowl and Jonathon responded with a 94 game.

That was enough to get young Jonathon hooked on bowling.

It's been an uphill climb since then.

"He gets his share of strikes and also converts spares," Mrs. Ball related. "Last week he even beat me."

Jonathon's father, who is quick to point out that he isn't a good bowler, adds, "Would you believe my son also beat me last week?"

What does little Jonathon want to be when he grows up?

That one's easy. A professional bowler, of course.

Introducing The Whatchamacallit Loan

The Whatchamacallit happens not to exist. Yet. But if it did, we at Triple-A would be happy to lend you the money to buy it.

In the meantime, we'll lend you the money to buy any of the things it represents—a new or used car, motor home, camper, boat, snowmobile or all-terrain-vehicle.

And, we'll give you a better interest rate than most banks or dealers. We urge you to do some comparison pricing if you don't believe it.

Call Triple-A about a Whatchamacallit loan (a Triple-A Member Loan as we call it). Especially in these times when a quick, low-cost loan seems as hard to find as a Whatchamacallit.

Panax to operate commercial printing plant

Panax of Georgia, a subsidiary of the Panax Corp., has assumed the operation of Target Communications, a weboffset commercial printing plant, located in Columbus, Ga. about 90 miles from Atlanta. The Michigan-based newspaper publishing and commercial printing company assumed operation of the firm from

John Amos, a Georgia businessman, who also is president of the American Family Life Assurance Co. Of the move Panax Executive Vice-President Frank H. Shepherd said:

"Our company hopes to continue and expand the commercial printing services that were offered by John Amos. Panax looks at Target as a new and exciting opportunity in an area of the country which is experiencing a renaissance in economic development."

Shepherd added that Jerry Shiverdecker, who managed a Panax weekly newspaper in southern Florida, has been named general manager of the Panax unit.

"We feel that Jerry Shiverdecker will provide the leadership and experience necessary to meet the commercial printing needs of that part of the southeastern United States," Shepherd said.

Target Communications has 13 fulltime employees and offers its clients complete mailing facilities, a composition department, camera facilities, color separation equipment and promotion department.

The Columbus company has the capability to print a full range of publications, including newspapers, catalogs and promotional materials.

Assuming the overall responsibility for Panax's commercial printing facilities in the southeastern United States is Jack Nicol, who has been general manager of Panax Printing in Miami Beach, Fla.

Nicol, the new regional manager for southeast U.S. commercial printing said: "The staff at Target is very competent and has been turning out top quality work. I feel confident that Panax's experience in the offset business will continue the building of Target into a top flight facility." Speaking of Panax Corp. John Amos said: "I've known Panax for a long time. They not only are good newspaper publishers, but they also are good commercial printers. They have greater experience in the commercial printing business and greater experience with the ingredients necessary to make it into a top flight operation."

The Panax Corporation publishes newspapers in Michigan, Illinois, and Indiana and also has commercial printing plants in those states plus Florida. Panax is the parent corporation of Associated Newspapers, which publishes The Daily Eagle, The Canton Eagle, The Belleville Enterprise and The Romulus Roman. The company also has released information on its quarterly financial report, with net earnings for the third quarter and nine months of 1975. Net earnings for the third quarter increased $84,549 over the same period of 1974. And the nine months net earnings are $159,270 ahead of the same period last year.

Net earnings for the third quarter 1975 amount to $0.08 per share compared to $0.01 per share in the third quarter of 1974. The nine month net earnings per share amount to $0.16 compared to $0.03 for the first nine months of 1974.

Panax President John P. McGoff said financial results for the nine months and third quarter are "highly satisfactory."

"Our operating divisions continue to perform well in spite of adverse economic conditions," he added. "Our continuing financial improvement is a trend we expect to continue through 1976 barring a major downturn in the economy."

"As a result of our reorganization and consolidation during latter 1974 and early 1975, we have increased our net earnings in third quarter 1975 more than eight times the net earnings in the same quarter 1974 on 4 percent less net revenue."

SPECIAL THANKS — Members of the Sumpter Township Fire Department volunteered more time for the job when they attended the Plymouth Center for Human Development "mardi gras parade" recently. Dressed as clowns, the volunteer Fire Department members marched in the parade in an effort to bring some entertainment to the residents of the center. Peter D. Schweitzer, director of the community relations at the center, thanked Fire Chief Larry D. Hartwick for the department's efforts.

Following the party, the teens of the community were invited to a dance.

On golden wedding

Midas feted at gala anniversary party

MR. AND MRS. LAMBERT MIDA

Golden wedding bells rang out Nov. 8 as Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Mida observed their 50th wedding anniversary with some 180 relatives and friends. A special church service at 6 p.m. got the celebration off to a start with cocktails, a buffet supper and dancing following at the Oddfellows Temple in Wayne.

The Midas, who were united in marriage on Nov. 7, 1925 in Detroit, were escorted up the aisle of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Belleville by their four daughters: Mrs. Mida on the arms of Georgianna Frye and Betty Rowland and her husband on the arms of Mildred Baker and Evelyn Lyall. Also joining the entourage were the couple's maid of honor and best man, Emma Mida of Algonac and Casper Sears of Ypsilanti, sister and brother, respectively, of the bridegroom and bride.

The Rev. Walter Henning officiated in the same church the Midas helped to establish when it had its beginnings in Belleville as a mission about 39 years ago. They were members of St. John's Lutheran Church in Wayne prior to that. Stanford Walling of Westland played the organ and also sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Lambert Mida, who was born in Detroit Feb. 20, 1905, moved to Belleville when he was a lad of 15. One of Herman and Helena Lanstra Mida's 10 children, he attended both public and parochial schools in Detroit.

His wife was Elizabeth Sears, one of 15 children, when they married half a century ago. Born in Mt. Clemens June 7, 1907, she moved to Belleville at the age of nine with her parents, George and Belle Boyer Sears. Her schooling included both the Mt. Clemens and Belleville districts.

Their quartet of daughters are Mrs. Robert (Mildred) Baker of Belleville; Mrs. Norman (Evelyn) Lyall of St. Paul, Minn.; Mrs. Harold (Georgianna) Frye of Westland, and Mrs. Ronald (Betty) Rowland of Highland, Ind. They and their husbands played host at the gala event.

The celebrants' family tree also includes nine grandchildren: Robert and James Baker of Saginaw; Joan Baker Vicary of Leslie; Joy Lyall Symes of Boulder, Colo.; Kim Lyall of St. Paul, Minn.; David and Nancy Frye of Westland, and Gary and Kevin Rowland of Highland, Ind. as well as one great-granddaughter, Natasha Baker, the 4-year-old daughter of the junior Robert Bakers.

The Midas made their home in Belleville for 30 years before they moved to Wayne which has since been incorporated into the city of Westland. Mr. Mida worked for the Ford Motor Co. at River Rouge for 28 years and during World War II was transferred to the Bomber Plant at Willow Run, also operated by Ford's. When he left the company, he worked for the Wayne Community Schools for 19 years, retiring in 1970.

His wife has been a homemaker practically all her 50 years of marriage with just a short period of working out. Two years ago she was a patient at Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn. where she underwent open heart surgery. She now is in good health and, along with her husband is very active in three different senior citizen clubs in the Wayne-Westland area.

Among those congratulating the Midas on their special day were her six sisters and three brothers from Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, New Boston, Livonia, Plymouth and Belleville. Three sisters living in Colorado and California were unable to be present. Mr. Mida's five sisters and two brothers came from Algonac, Ypsilanti and Belleville for the occasion. Others signing the guest book were from Posen, Wayne, Royal Oak and the aforementioned cities.

At the 7:30 p.m. dinner and on behalf of all the family, Mildred Baker proposed a special toast to her parents. Grace was offered by The Rev. Henning and after dining, State Representative Tom Brown (D-37th District) presented the honored pair with a special tribute from the State of Michigan.

Congratulations also were received from President Gerald Ford, Governor William Milliken and State Representative William Ford.

The Midas were honored at a second party the afternoon of Nov. 12 when some 200 senior citizens gathered at John Glenn High School in Westland. The couple's four daughters were invited to help celebrate and share a cake decorated just for the anniversary. The group also sang "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" while the Midas danced together, then with each of their daughters.

Many gifts, floral arrangements, cards and letters of congratulations helped make the Midas' 1975 "wedding date" one long to remember.

Home Arts Club sees silk screen process

An art instructor at South Junior High School, Dave Medley, was the featured guest when the Home Arts

Club met for its regular meeting Nov. 10. With step-by-step examples of the procedure, he explained the techniques of silk screening.

Using a Christmas card as his design he showed the cutstencils, how to register (align) the paper and how to apply the paint to the screen. He also had several members try their hand with the squeegee (the tool for applying the paint.)

Avis White, program chairman, planned the evening and later announced that the traditional Christmas party would be held at 8 p.m. Dec. 8 at the home of club president Mildred Baker. The group voted to once again hold an exchange of handmade or homemade items which proved so popular in the past. The executive board will be in charge of refreshments with the program committee handling entertainment. The party is for members only and they are reminded that dues must be paid by December in order to attend.

At the business meeting which opened the proceedings, 22 members answered roll call and five women signed the guest book: Phyllis Young, Bonnie Nuttall, Wilma Tator, Linda LeBlanc and Agnes Elliott.

Hostesses Elaine Habel, chairman; Phyllis Breithaupt, Charlotte Budd and Lucille Bravatto, served hot spiced cider and donuts at the conclusion of the program. Mrs. Budd, using pine sprigs and yellow and white mums from her garden, created the centerpiece.

Early deadline

Because of the Thanksgiving holiday, items for the Dec. 3 Suburban Living pages must be in to the Enterprise-Roman office by 2 p.m. on Nov. 26 (one day earlier than usual).

Those with brief news items may call Lee Smith that day at 697-9191. Information for lengthy stories must be submitted in writing.

Senator Faust guest at BPW dinner meet

The Nov. 3 meeting of the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW) was held at Faith United Methodist Church in Denton.

Following dinner the legislation committee introduced Senator William Faust, D-13th District, and his administrative assistant William Kandler, who brought news from the senate in Lansing.

Senator Faust touched on three requested subjects and was later open to questions. He spoke on the inequity of taxes on different businesses and also property taxes supporting public schools. He said he did not foresee an increase in the 1975-76 state income tax since it is an election year.

Legislation, regarding permission of public school teachers to strike, is at a standstill. A strike bill has been proposed but does not stand a chance of passing unless it is amended in a way that is agreeable to the senate and the governor.

Senator Faust indicated there already are enough laws on the books to control hand guns but there is difficulty in the enforcement of such laws. He said he had voted in favor of the Equal Rights Amendment (E.R.A.) for Women but knew it was coming up again for discussion regarding the recinding of the amendment. He told the group he would let them know the date the E.R.A. will again be on the agenda.

During the business meeting a membership certificate was presented to the newest member Vesta Losen. Martha Morton reported that the annual blood bank had netted 167 pints of blood.

National Business Women's Week began for the Belleville Club with breakfast together Sunday morning followed by services at Faith United Methodist Church in Denton.

Four members attended a seminar at Schoolcraft Community College Nov. 5 to hear Elaine Donnelly and Audrey Perry debate the pros and cons of the E.R.A.

The BPW will again be servicing the needy children of the area with clothing and toys for Christmas. All members are to bring a $1.50 toy to the December 1 meeting which will be a Christmas dinner and program.

Bicentennial research material available

Those involved with Bicentennial projects will no doubt welcome a look at a few of the Belleville Library's newest arrivals. One is about the people of the Revolution and the spirit of '76.

Other research can be accomplished by looking into an encyclopedia on the American Revolution.

For those delving into the backgrounds of U.S. presidents, there are two newcomers in that category; one involving Richard M. Nixon and the other John F. Kennedy.

If you've been assigned the task of researching sports, perhaps the story on the Michigan Wolverines or the one on the Detroit Tigers will be the answer to your prayers. There's a wealth of material available for the celebration and those are only the latest tomes to be added. Dozens of other pieces of reading matter are in the library merely for the asking.

NON-FICTION

"The Colonial Spirit of '76: The People of the Revolution." The lives of members of the Continental Congress and other prominent men and women of the period arranged alphabetically following a history of the period. Accompanied by watercolor paintings and sketches by Kay Smith.

"Encyclopedia of the American Revolution" by Mark Boatner. One-volume reference book on personalities, issues and events of the years 1763-1783. Includes specially prepared maps and diagrams.

"Breath of Faith" by Theodore White. The fall of Richard Milhouse Nixon, President of the United States.

"Conversations with Kennedy" by Benjamin Bradlee. Illustrated with photographs, the book concerns a friend's relationship with a U.S. president.

"The Wolverines" by Will Perry. The story of Michigan football at the University of Michigan.

"Detroit Tigers" by Joe Falls. The story of the Detroit baseball club, the American League and baseball's great teams.

"Backyard" by Jean Femling. A moving and frightening suspense novel.

"New Girl in Town" by Faith Baldwin. After the death of her great-aunt Hattie, Maggie arrives in Little Oxford determined to make a new life for herself.

FICTION

"Cry Witch" by Naomi Hintze. Gigi Lang returns to her childhood home in Majorca in hopes of uncovering some information on her mother's suicide.

"The Goddess and Other Women" by Joyce Carol Oates. Twenty-five stories of women and girls of all ages living the crises of their daily lives.

"The Witch from the Sea" by Philippa Carr. Linnet Pennlyon marries an Elizabethan adventurer whose castle has been, and perhaps still is, the site of intrigue, trade tragedy and murder.

"The Dreadful Lemon Sky" by John MacDonald. An old friend leaves a huge stack of bills in Travis McGee's keeping. Two weeks later, she is killed in a truck accident.

"Emergency Room" by James Kerr. A promising intern become the scapegoat for the errors of other doctors. "By the North Door" by Margaret Atkins. A nice, ordinary spinster marries into a family of witches and warlocks.

'Village of Shops' bazaar is today's ECW attraction

The "Village of Shops" bazaar is underway at Trinity Episcopal Church. The annual bazaar opened this morning (Nov. 19) at 10 a.m. and will continue until 7 p.m.

Trinity Episcopal Church Women (ECW) are sponsoring the day-long activities which feature a hot dog and chili luncheon at 11 a.m. and a supper entree of either spaghetti or macaroni with salad, rolls, drink and dessert starting at 5 p.m. Coffee and donuts will be on sale throughout the day.

An added bonus for shoppers will be free baby sitting service.

Co-chairmen of the annual event, Marge Forde and Jeane Wilson, invite the public to stop by and visit the holiday gifts and trim shop, the home baked goods counter, the antique shop, fresh vegetable bin, trim-a-ball shop and the corner cupboard of homemade candy, preserves, candied apples, popcorn and ice cream cones.

Girl Scouts and Boy

Scouts will man a booth where orders will be taken for their Christmas evergreen wreaths and centerpieces. A stitchery section highlighting many handmade gift items, a flower shop, decorator pillow shop and a Merry Poppin Grocery Shop will also be on the agenda. For the younger set there will be a "midway for kids."

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

Daryle Eric Shephard, who made his way into this world on Nov. 11, 1974, was the center of attention Nov. 9 as relatives gathered for a party marking "big one." His mom and dad, Pat and Jim Shephard of Sumpter Road, played host at a 5 p.m. supper which featured a cake specially decorated by Grandma Shephard (Verdys, who attended with her husband Art and son Brian).

The sheet cake was topped by a second smaller cake made in the form of a brown and white panda bear; the panda being saved for the young man's actual birth date.

Then there was a miniature cake just for Daryle's own enjoyment and, his mother said, he "wore it beautifully. On hand for the occasion were the senior Stanley Sliwas, the maternal grandparents; the Roger Ferguson family, Stan and Joyce Sliwa and son Mike, Tina Sliwa and Jerry Vernier and Cindy Sliwa and Bryant Waddell.

Party is surprise

The quiet family dinner which Robert and Geraldine Thomas thought they were attending turned out to be anything but serene since they were greeted with shouts of "surprise!" as they entered.

Held at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Judy and Gary Bisson of Romulus, the party was sparked by 10 couples who arrived from Taylor, St. Clair Shores, Lincoln Park and New Boston. The couple's other children, Kate, Suzy and Glenn, and grandchildren Timberlea and Shane Bisson, also got in their hugs and kisses.

After a call from their son Tim, who lives in Pocatello, Idaho, the Thomases sat down to a buffet supper with the well wishers. Residents of New Boston, Mrs. Thomas is a homemaker and her husband is employed as a stationary engineer for Semet Solvay.

The representatives presented a report on the activities at the national convention during a NOW meeting Saturday at the YWCA Building in Inkster.

The chapter serves the communities of Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Inkster, Garden City, Wayne, Westland, Romulus, Canton Township and Belleville.

Women interested in NOW can obtain further information on the organization by contacting

MUSICAL NOTES

by Doug Brown

The importance of Naples as a center of music began in the middle of the fifteenth century when Johannes Tinctoris, an important composer and a still more important musical theorist, founded the first school of music in that city. This school was immediately succeeded by four "Conservatories," which provided asylums for homeless orphans. Schooling as well as shelter was provided; and music came gradually to occupy a principal place in the instruction. It was here that Handel came to learn his art.

Surprise someone special with a special gift for Christmas from DOUG BROWN MUSIC, 9219 S. Wayne Rd., Romulus. For a great selection of holiday gifts visit our accessory department featuring such items as music stands, Reeds, Strings, Picks, Resin, Mouth pieces, Music lamps and piano benches...Method books, sheet music, records and tapes make great stocking stuffers! Master charge and Bank Americard honored.

What's a nice skier like you doing at a place like Timberlee...

I like to ski and that's what I do at Timberlee.

Their 16 slopes offer a variety of challenges or just relaxing skiing. Chair lifts, poma-lift and a rope tow for beginners will get you to the top. There's a pro shop for rental and repairs. For apres-ski, I stay at Sun Perch overlooking the slopes. There's a choice of two bedroom apartments or studios with complete kitchens, linens and modern designer furnishings. Regular motel accommodations are available too. At the Hill House, it's dinner and lunch at the Gold Brick Saloon or the Farmer's Daughter Cafeteria. You don't have to worry about fancy duds and a pre-planned carnival atmosphere. We make our own fun at Timberlee. I'm a meat and potatoes man and I like my skiing the same way.

Save money in your attic this winter.

Insulate!

At the direction of the Michigan Public Service Commission, Michigan Consolidated is again offering a low-cost home ceiling insulation program designed to conserve Natural Gas and hold down heating costs.

Last year, nearly 42,400 Michigan Consolidated customers installed ceiling insulation, saving over one billion cubic feet of Natural Gas, and cut their home heating costs by up to 17%.

These results were gratifying indeed. Enough Natural Gas was conserved to heat over 7,600 additional homes this winter.

If you still haven't taken advantage of this easy, low-cost program, now's the time to act. Many homeowners can install insulation themselves for about $125. Our free handbook tells you how. Get your copy at any Michigan Consolidated Business Office, most building supply outlets or write or call us.

Or, we can have the job done for you by one of our participating subcontractors and add the cost to your monthly gas bills. The cost? About $250 for homes with less than 1,000 sq. ft. of ceiling area. You can pay cash. Or, you can pay over an extended period at an interest rate of 1% monthly on the unpaid balance. (ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE OF 12%.)

So why not save money in your attic this winter with our low-cost ceiling insulation program? You'll be cutting your heating costs up to 17% and helping our country conserve its Natural Gas supplies, too.

Walk in with a "Lucky Buck"...

Drive out with 100 Bucks!

During the College Dodge "Lucky Buck" Used Car Bonanza

How do I get 100 Bucks?
Make your best deal on any used car carrying the standard used car warranty... Get the deal approved by the manager... Produce your "Lucky Buck" Get 100 bucks on delivery. It's that easy.

What's a "Lucky Buck"?
A "Lucky Buck" is any American one-dollar bill with a serial number beginning or ending in a 7 or 11.

What's the catch?
There's no catch. The money is yours to keep. To do whatever you wish with it. You can apply it to the deal on your car, or keep it. The choice is yours.

P.S. The real beauty is that our salesman won't know if you have a "Lucky Buck" or not. You'll get an automatic 100 bucks after you've made your best deal. But remember DON'T show the salesman your "Lucky Buck" until you've made the deal.

Only one "Lucky Buck" per car.

Love that College Dodge!
